

Your people aren't prepared to gamble
with their safety.

Are you?

Every day, employees working in the field find themselves in danger from an attack on the street, or at a job/client site. Hopefully they can flee. But what if they can't?

ARRIVE ALIVE: STREET SAFETY FOR THE TRAVELING EMPLOYEE

Sorensen, Wilder & Associates "Arrive Alive: Street Safety for The Traveling Employee" prepares and empowers your team, helping them to:

- Understand workplace violence, and the anatomy and definition of violent crime
- Learn more about workforce violence through statistics and case studies Learn to identify and mitigate hazards on the street, in parking areas, on sidewalks and in homes.
- Learn the Street Safety Continuum: Prevent, Prepare and Respond
- Understand the Safety Action Plan and Threat Matrix and how it can keep your staff safe
- Understand the psychology and process of decision making, and refine associated skills to increase the odds of survival in an active hostile event
- Understand workplace environmental hazards
- Remain safe and alive in an active hostile event

Keeping employees safe isn't as simple as telling them to leave a dangerous situation. If they are already in it, they need the skills to get out safely.

Give them the skills to Arrive Alive.
